Deliverables

1. Front-End Style Guide

Color Palette

Primary (#8B263E - Cranberry Rose): Deep, warm rose for main navigation bars, primary header typography (h1, h2), and primary action buttons.

Secondary (#D97736 - Terracotta Gold): Warm accent for card top-borders, section subheadings (h3), and key badges.

Accent (#3D6B56 - Sage Green): Used for hyperlinks, active navigation indicators, and quote block borders.

Background (#FDFBF7 - Warm Parchment): Soft, warm off-white canvas that reduces eye strain and provides an editorial feel.

Surface / Container (FFFFFF - Pure White): Clean white fill used for cards, text containers, and modal surfaces.

Text Dark (#2B2625 - Dark Espresso): High-contrast body copy and descriptive text without the starkness of pure black.

Border Muted (#E7E0D8 - Warm Gray): Dividing horizontal rules, image container outlines, and component borders.

4. Biography

Jolene, affectionately known to generations of family members as Gma, was born in a house on Central Avenue in San Diego on May 5, 1930. Arriving on Cinco de Mayo alongside her twin sister, her birthday marked the start of a lifelong tradition of festive family get-togethers where celebrating side by side with her sister made every milestone unforgettable. When she was just three months old, her family moved to Ocean Beach, where she spent her formative years. Growing up near the coast provided fond early memories that she still shares today, including the time she and her twin sister were four and a half years old trying to pick fresh fruit from their parents' backyard orange tree, only to be met with a chorus of "no, no, no."

As an adult, Jolene dedicated her professional career to community education and early literacy, working in the children's library at the Pepper Drive school. In the library, she introduced young students to the joy of reading, created welcoming learning spaces, and shared her appreciation for books. Beyond her work, her family was the center of her life. When reflecting on nearly a century of lived history, she considers her greatest personal achievement to be marrying the love of her life and raising four healthy children. Her home was always grounded in warmth, creativity, and lasting generational connections.

At 96 years old, Jolene continues to maintain an active routine. Because her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren live across multiple states, she frequently travels across the country by airplane to visit them in person, while also enjoying scenic road trips through the mountains. When she is not traveling, she channels her energy into handcrafting art and keepsake projects designed especially for her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Her life reflects an enduring philosophy that she regularly passes down to younger generations: "Always be happy, don't be angry, if you can't do anything about it don't sweat it!"
